

OXFORD TRANSNATIONAL AND GLOBAL HISTORY SEMINAR (TGHS)

Hilary 2021 Term Card

Tuesdays, 17:00-18:30 on Zoom, except for Week 4

Week 1 (Tuesday 19th January)

Open Round Table Discussion

Topic: Global History in the Making: Coups, Covid and Conspiracies

Week 3 (Tuesday 2nd February)

Graduate Student Presentations - Identity

An Art of Intimations: Mashhadi Marriage Contracts of the 'Jadīd Al-Islām'

- Rhea Stark, University of Oxford

The Emergence of Transnational Chineseness in Early-Twentieth-Century Hong Kong

- Matthew Wong Foreman, Northwestern University

Week 4 - SPECIAL EVENT (17.00 Thursday 11th February)

Reading Group in collaboration with Race Equality Action Group (REAG)

'Race, Teaching, and the University: Historians' Approaches'

Week 5 (Tuesday 16th February)

Graduate Student Presentations - Global Childhood

The Roopkotha and the Bengali Middle-class Child — Exploring the Creation of a Popular Children's Genre Over the Turn of the 20th Century in Bengal

- Raahi Adhya, School of African and Oriental Studies (SOAS), University of London

The YWCA as a global connector in 1930s Japan: A case study of the Canadian Eiwa mission girls' schools

- Alexandria Dugal, University of Oxford

Week 6 (Tuesday 23rd February)

Dr Rachel Taylor, Oxford University

African Cosmopolitans: Nyamwezi Men in Precolonial and Colonial East Africa

Week 7 (Tuesday 2nd March)

Graduate Student Presentations - Colonialism on the Ground

Local-Regional relations and Colonial Villages of Indians in Dutch Brazil (1633-1654)

- Lucas de Lima Silva, Universidade Federal Rural de Pernambuco, Brazil

Microcosms of colonial development: Italian and Ethiopian farmers at the crossroads of fascist empire building (1937-1941)

- Michele Sollai, Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies (IHEID), Geneva